The Most Delicious Pie

My grandma decided to make a pie. Since she's from the south, she was a pecan (PEE - con) pie, but where we're from, we like a CON pie. Even though we have different dialects, we all love pie. Grandma and I had a dialogue about how to make it. I pre-bake the crust using dried beans or rice. Grandma said to heat it. Heat radiated from it as we put the pie on top. I took out the beans and added the rest of the filling. We and we set it on the counter to cool. My grandma had a diabolical plan to eat the whole thing. I said if I would cut the pie in half across its diagonal cuts to make smaller slices.

The TEACHER next Door

At The Teacher Next Door, we know that you strive to be an effective reading teacher while maintaining a healthy work-life balance. In order to do that, you need resources that are impactful, yet simple. The problem is that most reading resources and curriculums out there are far from simple. The pages upon pages of daily lesson plans are just plain overwhelming. We believe teachers should be living their lives outside the classroom, and not spending hours lesson planning and searching for resources.

Now, more than ever, teachers need space to be themselves which is why we create and support teachers with timesaving tips and standards-aligned resources.

We can't wait to help you get started.
