Point of View

Luna wasn't scared of anything. She wasn't one to jump when she saw a spider on the wall, a bee buzzing near her, or a lizard in the garden. That's why no one was surprised when Luna announced one day that she was going to buy a snake as a pet. Not just any snake, but a big boa constrictor.

Point of View

Just when we walked as far as we could go, the trail ended at the lake in front of us. We walked as fast as we could get our backpacks on the ground once our shoes were on the lake. The water was calm.

The treehouse was something that James had dreamed of since he was small. So, every weekend, his mom measured and cut more lumber, and nailed each plank into place. Today, James looked at the small treehouse in the middle of his backyard. It sat quietly in the branches of the old oak tree. James stepped on the ladder's first rung. He couldn't believe this was happening!

As the wind started to roar, I grabbed my jacket and pulled it around me. Dust was lifted up from the dry ground. It blew through the air, making the sky a mass of white. I blinked my eyes, trying to get the dust out of my eyes. As I kept walking. Soon, I would be there. What would I find there though?

All of my favorite friends were at my house to celebrate my birthday! My dad scooped ice cream for us and my mom set the table with bowls full of toppings. Besides chocolate syrup and whipped cream, there were chocolate chips, M&M's, and marshmallows. Best of all, there were sprinkles too. We had so much fun, it was hard to stop!

The day that Diego's cat jumped over the fence was a day he would never forget. It was moving day and Diego and his family had most of the truck packed except the cat, Charlie. Diego was trying to get Charlie into the cat carrier, when Charlie bolted out of the house and over the fence. The next door neighbor grabbed the cat and brought it back to Diego, who thanked him of relief.

Point of View

I sat as still as I could. In fact, I was so still that I could hear myself breathing. A mama bear was walking through the forest with her baby, just a few feet away from me. I had never seen a full-grown bear up close but now I realized how huge they really are. I said a silent prayer, hoping she didn't catch my scent.

On the day of my sister's graduation from kindergarten, I saved her life. It happened in a split second and I'm not telling you this to sound like I'm bragging. I'm just thankful I was there. As Kiera walked into the street, a car came speeding down the road straight towards her. I grabbed her hand and pulled her to the curb as fast as I could. Once the car went by, she started crying. Then I started crying. Then everyone started crying. We were so relieved.

At The Teacher Next Door, we know that you strive to be an effective reading teacher while maintaining a healthy work-life balance. In order to do that, you need resources that are impactful, yet simple. The problem is that most reading resources and curriculums out there are far from simple. The pages upon pages of daily lesson plans are just plain overwhelming. We believe teachers should be living their lives outside the classroom, and not spending hours lesson planning and searching for resources.

Now, more than ever, teachers need space to be themselves which is why we create and support teachers with timesaving tips and standards-aligned resources.

We can't wait to help you get started.
